

YCF membership is evolving

Does your organisation develop, distribute or manufacture ingredients or formulated products in the chemical and related industries?

If so, become a member of YCF and enjoy a broad range of benefits tailored to your specific sector needs.

“Involvement with YCF has benefited our organisation as it has given us considerable support to ensure we comply fully with the new REACH regulations”.

Benefits include:

Interest Groups

Sector specific Interest Groups will enable your organisation to share knowledge and learn about latest developments in your specific industry area, while our range of general Interest Groups will keep you informed on a variety of subjects such as regulation and legislation changes. A full programme of Interest Groups is available to view on our website www.ycf.org.uk.

YCF Annual Interest Group Meeting

This annual event will bring together organisations from all Interest Groups to hear about the latest developments from each Interest Group, participate in themed workshops and to network with fellow members. This is a valuable opportunity to learn what each Interest Group has achieved over the past year and how your organisation can participate and contribute at future meetings.

Innovation Health Check

Your organisation can take advantage of an Innovation Health Check, which involves evaluating your innovation performance using a simple tool. This can be used to develop strategy for business growth by focussing on areas for improvement.

Networking for Growth (N4G)

These sector focussed business pitch events aim to develop business collaboration opportunities for our members. The format of the events will be a series of short presentations and an exhibition. The short presentations work particularly well, since areas of interest can be followed up through visits to the relevant stands.

YCF Annual Social Event

This event aims to bring together various organisations and industry notables to network, share experiences and gain new business contacts.

Business Support Services

This is a catalogue of business support organisations which are free for YCF members to access. Help is available in areas such as regulation, administration, event planning, insurance etc. A full listing of services is available on our website www.ycf.org.uk. Please see individual listings as some services may be chargeable after an initial enquiry.

Website Promotion

YCF will promote your organisation on our website through a single page member profile, in addition to providing space to publish your company news items, case studies, events and press releases to website visitors.

YCF Directory

The YCF Directory offers members a free listing and advertisement opportunities at discounted member rates.

Re:Action Magazine

This twice yearly member publication is focussed on informing the YCF community of YCF and member news, YCF Interest Groups and regulatory updates.

E-Newsletter

This update is e-mailed to all members on a monthly basis, which will include details of Interest Groups and events relevant to your organisation.

YCF Exhibition

Your organisation will be notified and given the first choice of prime exhibition space at YCF events.

Mailing List

YCF members are included on our regular e-mailing list to ensure your organisation receives YCF information first hand; featuring details on YCF events, news and relevant associate network information.

There are a number of entry points for you to gain access to services. Small, medium and large companies are categorised as such, however small and medium sized organisations can upgrade their membership to take advantage of the increased level of benefits and services.
